WANTED SIXTY PER CENT ON SUGAR DEAL

Montreal Dispatch Avers London Firm Refused Anything under Sixteen Cents

OFFERED TWELVE

This Throat Cent and Half over That Market Price Was Refused

(Special to The Bulletin.)

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 17.—The people of Edmonton and northern Alberta have been deprived of sugar during the season when it is most needed, by permitted profiteering. The following facts, which have been obtained from a trustworthy reliable source, show:

Two weeks ago an Edmonton wholesaler wired his New York connection that he could not get in touch with a source from which sugar could be obtained at a price that a firm in London, Ontario, had ten cents which they were holding at sixteen cents a pound but the Edmonton firm made that they might not be able to get it at that price. The market price was ten and a half cents and the firm from London offered twelve cents, which was one and a half cents above the market. The offer was submitted because of the great need for sugar in that territory. The firm was declined in a collect message. The Edmonton firm was informed that sixteen cents was the lowest price that could be obtained. At the time this sugar was bought, the price was more than ten cents, as that is the price the firm asked the London firm would make the very satisfactory offer of state sugar at the cost price.

A Story of Interest to the Men of Edmonton reproduction of an advertisement that appeared in the Winnipeg Free Press during 1916. While the price of clothing has advanced in the last three years, ROBINSON'S UPSTAIRS CLOTHES SHOPS still save you from $10 to $15 on every suit or overcoat. "Walk Upstairs and Save Ten"

A COURT DECISION

That Means a Saving to Every Man in Canada

Have you heard about the suit which was instigated against Robinson's Upstairs Clothes Shops, in the Winnipeg Police Court, on October 10th by the Retail Merchants Association, in which they allege my false statements made in advertising?

This suit was filed against me in the interests of a large body of ground floor "Clothing Merchants" located in one of the cities in which I operate stores.

The case was dismissed by the magistrate, Sir Hugh John McDonald, entirely on the evidence introduced by the prosecution and without the defence having to put a witness on the stand.

This particular case with which I was charged stated that I sold the "very clothes" for $15 for which the "Ground Floor" clothiers charge $25, and that I sold them every day in the year.

The charge could not have been very much stronger and it was incumbent upon me to prove the facts. There were 28 suits produced in court, some of which had been purchased from me for $15 and some of which had been purchased from the Ground Floor Clothiers at from $25 to $27.50. After listening to the opinions put forward by five experts for the Crown [all tickets and identification marks having been removed from the garments] for a period covering three weeks

The Court Declared that I am Selling Genuine $25 Clothes for $15

This is the first time in any court that any merchant has ever PROVED ABSOLUTELY THAT HE IS UNDERSELLING HIS COMPETITORS 40%.

Just think what this decision means to you men of Edmonton and all Canada!

Just think what it means to you in future to know that you can save $10 every time you buy a Suit or Overcoat!

No advertised Bargain Sale — no so-called Special Purchase Sale — no promise of savings by any individual or firm through any advertising columns can mean to you a saving compared to what this court-proof absolute guarantee of mine means.

My love for my business was engendered by the love of the idea of finding a way to save the people money in an honest, straightforward way — I loved the idea ever since I opened my first small upstairs shop in Montreal three and one-half years ago with $400.00 capital.

I have despised the idea of limping through life on the crutches of borrowed brains and precedent! From the first day I started I have dealt fairly and squarely with the public.

I have made the public my confidants, and always will, as it is only through truth telling and mutual confidence that I have built this wonderful business, in this short space of time to be the Largest Exclusive Clothing Business in the Dominion of Canada. There isn't a single plank of sham, extravagance, or hypocrisy anywhere in the Robinson institution. It is through this very honesty that I expect to make the word Robinson a big word in the mouths of the men throughout Canada; to make the word Robinson wherever it is heard or seen in connection with clothes buying — to mean and stand for an ABSOLUTE GUARANTEE OF SAVING $10.

I have always courted the closest investigation of my principles and methods, and the result of this trial is but the CLIMAX OF MY AMBITIONS! It is only through honest methods square dealing and honest values that I have sold over 100,000 garments and saved the men of Canada over $1,000,000.

over 100,000 garments and SAVED THE MEN OF CANADA OVER $1,000,000.

From the first minute that I started this Square-Deal Institution, I have cut out all pomp and false display; have cut out the ground floor rents, elaborate window displays, decorated ceilings, velvet hangings, cut-glass chandeliers, losses on charge accounts, delivery service, and every cent of extravagant expense, that makes it necessary for you to pay more for your clothes than the actual value of the clothes themselves.

Own your own mind and let us hope it isn't furnished on the instalment plan with ideas picked up here and there from other men for whom the ideas of long ago were good enough.

This is the AGE OF TO-DAY.

This is the City of "I WILL."

This is the one spot in the world where we have the right to expect more independent thinking, more self deciding brain power than anywhere else on earth. Edmonton men have the reputation of thinking for themselves.

Figure for yourselves the results of what it has established.

I leave the public to draw their own conclusions, as to why this action was brought.

I leave the public to draw their own conclusions, as to the honesty of my methods and intentions.

(Excerpt from Manitoba Free Press, Nov. 2, 1916.)

TEXT OF STATEMENT.

In dismissing the charge, Sir Hugh John McDonald said, in part:

"Having gone carefully into the evidence given in this case, and tabulated that of the experts called by the crown I come to the conclusion that it is not necessary for me to call on the learned counsel further as I am satisfied that on the evidence given, the crown has not established a prima facie case.

"I might have not come to this conclusion were it not for the evidence of Mr. Lambert, the last witness, who identified a number of suits produced by the defense, and put in as lettered exhibits, and which enabled me to understand the evidence given by the crown experts respectively. With that evidence before me, and looking at the evidence given by the experts it seems to me that all it established is this: that some of these suits are better and some worse than the suits bought in downstairs stores and some of equal value, and on that I could not find a prima facie case has been established."

The Cattle King Favors Irrigation

Homesite at Glenora, Alberta.—many such new homes stand on rich irrigated land that was formerly too dry to grow a crop.—and the great C. P. R. Irrigation Dam at Basano, Alberta.

Pat Burns is an enthusiastic irrigator at Calgary on the subject of irrigation said that if irrigation were general in Alberta there would never be any fear of drought. As a converted old timer, he writes to Colonel J. S. Dennis of the C. P. R. and William Pearce to congratulate them on the triumph of irrigation, admitting that he did not pay much attention to it in the old days. Now after having just completed a trip over the irrigated district, west of Calgary, he felt that he should make amends by expressing his appreciation, and has handed copies of congratulatory letters to the press for reproduction. Pounding on the tangible proofs of irrigation that he saw, and commenting on the wonderful adaptability of the land for the purpose, and the supply of water available he concludes "if this had only been undertaken years ago there would be no talk of a possible shortage of food for cattle, but it would be now what it will be in the future, one of the richest localities in America. Really I think that the West should be proud of the possession of two far-seeing citizens like yourselves, and if your advice is followed and further enterprises worked by spreading the water over other portions of southern Alberta, thus converting them into as fruitful a country as parts now are, you will both deserve the fullest recognition of your fellow citizens in Alberta."

Commenting editorially on the interview, the "Calgary Herald" says: "Looking back over the history of irrigation development in the West the controversy and animosity of the farmers towards the proposed scheme are remembered as well as the scepticism and condemnation of the men who were responsible for it, and that those men suffered, and suffered severely is beyond question. They who in the early days foresaw the need of water on the land, if agriculture in Southern Alberta was to endure, and who in spite of being laughed at as visionaries and theorists, induced the C. P. R. to go ahead and construct the systems now in operation, are at least seeing their visions realized. That is some measure of compensation and satisfaction to them, but as Mr. Burns points out in his letter published today, they deserve more; they deserve in addition the fullest recognition of their fellow citizens in Alberta. Five names stand out definitely in this connection: Those of Col. J. S. Dennis, Lord Shaftesbury, Sir Wm. White, William Pearce, and Sir A. T. Galt. Messrs. Dennis and Pearce it was who determined the practicability of the scheme, the source of water supply, and who constructed the system; Sir Wm. White urged it upon the C. P. R. management. Lord Shaftesbury approved, authorized and provided the funds to bring it to fruition, and Sir A. T. Galt constructed and began operation of the A. R. and F. project, and the bridge. Of these five men, two have passed away, and another criticism now approval can now affect them. One, Lord Shaftesbury, has in great degree retired from active railway life, but the other two, Messrs. Dennis and Pearce, still live and work among us, and it is to them and of them that Mr. Burns writes in recognition of the benefit that their far-sightedness has conferred on this country."

Nobody knows the value of irrigation better than Pat Burns, Canada's cattle king. The career of this man, now a champion of irrigation is one full of interest. Pat Burns was the son of a farmer, and was born in Kilmichael, Ontario, at the age of eleven he was a cattle trader. This meat millionaire has a business today which requires busy packing plants in Calgary and Vancouver, to supply the needs of over twenty-six distributing houses and retail stores throughout British Columbia and Alberta. At Calgary, Burns's headquarters, the packing plant and office form a town in themselves. The plant in Vancouver is on the water front, and will have a wharf at which ocean-going steamers will be able to load with beef on the hoof, or dressed meats for foreign trade. The two plants can kill, clean, dress up and get ready for market over 500 steers a day. Burns came to the West "raw" with a pick and shovel, and worked for $1.00 a day as a navvy on the job. C. P. R. By careful living and saving, he managed to save up enough money to buy a little stock, and he homesteaded near Brandon. He continued to save, and by working on his homestead and on the railroad as well, he managed to roll up quite a snug little bank account. When the Canadian Pacific drove its "last spike," he moved further east, and settled in Calgary, then a little "cow town."

British Columbia began to open up, Burns saw the opportunity, and from his prairie herds, he shipped beef into the mountains. His realization came when he then, and continued in progressiveness until he had a cattle king. The career of this day he is one of the millionaires in the thriving Western metropolis of Calgary, which has grown from its "cow town" stage into a big city with imposing buildings and an atmosphere of "hustle" which impresses even the visitors from Chicago. Unquestionably, Burns's success had been due to foresightedness. He knew the West and its possibilities when others saw it merely as a feeding ground for cattle; and when the time came, he was prepared to "strike"; he sensed the invasion of capital, and bought real estate with the shrewdness that has always characterized his investments; and today Burns is one of the biggest landowners in Alberta. He holds a majority of stock in almost every legitimate stock enterprise in the Province, and boasts that enterprise to the limit. He always knows where he is going before he starts, and he is always on the job. He has a magnificent stone house in Calgary, which is known as "Pat Burns's Castle." He doesn't care whoop about society, drives in the front seat with the chauffeur, is as well-to-do as well with everyone, it has never seen "Pat Burns. Nobody says "Patrick" and nobody says "Blaisey." It is "Pat," short and simple. Because he is of Irish descent and his parents revered St. Patrick, they called him after the patron saint of the Emerald Isle. He is of the kind that people take to and they call him "Pat" for short, and perhaps it is that element of human kindness, exemplified in his sense for formality, which has had much to do with making him "Canada's Cattle King."
